Effective Date: (Amended) Upon passage.

Explanation of State Expenditures: (Revised) Summary: This bill annually appropriates $180,000 from the Veterans' Affairs Trust Fund to the Military Family Relief Fund for the purposes of providing grants to veteran service officers and local governments to provide financial assistance for veteran service officer accreditation.

Additional Information:

(Revised) Accreditation: Under the bill, veteran service officers are to become accredited by a national organization and annually renew accreditation as a condition of representing veterans. The bill allows the IDVA to provide grants to veteran service officers for training and local governments for computer and software purchases to meet these requirements. The maximum grant amount for veteran service officers is $500 and is $1,200 for local governments.

In order to receive a grant, veteran service officers and local governments must petition the Veterans' Affairs Commission. As a result, the workload of the Commission could increase, but should be within the routine administrative function of the Commission.

(Revised) Veterans' Affairs Trust Fund: As of February 2013, the Veterans' Affairs Trust Fund maintained approximately $7 M in total assets.

Certification: The IDVA reports they currently certify county and city veteran service officers with a certification test as required under 915 IAC 1-1-2. Additionally, by the decision of the former IDVA Director, this certification test is annually administered to all CVSOs as a condition of employment as a CVSO. Consequently, requiring the IDVA to provide a certification process for county and city veteran service officers is expected to have no new impact on the IDVA.

Explanation of State Revenues:

Explanation of Local Expenditures: A current county and city veteran service officer who does not receive accreditation and certification from the IDVA could be ineligible to be employed as a service officer.

County and city veteran service officer salaries are paid from local funds. To the extent a county or city veteran service officer does not obtain certification and accreditation, county or city expenditures could decrease. Decreases in county and city expenditures will depend on the duration a veteran service officer is unable to attain certification and accreditation or until a replacement accredited and certified veteran service officer can be employed. Actual decreases are unknown.

Explanation of Local Revenues:
